OUR VAULTS ARE WORTH A VISIT.

Nearly Fills Cell.

Tiffin, Ohio, May 28.—Harry McDonald, who has been placed in the county jail, weighs about 600 pounds. He is the largest person who has ever been arrested in Tiffin. He was brought here by Sheriff Bare from the Michigan City (Ind.) Penitentiary, where he had been serving time for horse stealing. The sheriff met him at the gate and arrested him on the charge of stealing a horse and buggy several years ago from Duffy Bros. livery barn, in Fostoria.

The law in Switzerland protecting rare plants is so strict that to be found in possession of specimens illegitimately collected is a penal offense.

Ducklings Stuck in Molasses.

Union City, Tenn., May 28.—When Mrs. Elias Johnston's hundred ducklings failed to show up for breakfast the other day she made an investigation and found them securely glued to the ground in the rear of a stock feed factory. A faucet to a molasses tank at the factory had been turned on, allowing 3,000 gallons of the syrup used for the stock feed to escape, and it spread over Mrs. Johnston's poultry yard.

A process has been invented in England for coloring wool various khaki and orange shades with diluted nitric acid without the use of natural or artificial dyes.

Buffalo Bill-101 Ranch
Wild West Show Is Here

PRETTY ALICE GOLDEN, 19 years old, the famed cow girl of Oklahoma, who will thrill at the Wild West Show today with exhibitions of rough riding and rope slinging.

Wild West Parade Will Be Seen Today.

The parade of the Buffalo Bill-101 Ranch Wild West Show starts at 10:30 o'clock this morning at Florida avenue and Fifteenth street northeast, passes along Florida avenue to K street, to Seventh street, to Mount Vernon Square, to Ninth street, to K street, along K to Twenty-second street, around Washington Circle, thence east to Pennsylvania avenue to Fifteenth street, south on Fifteenth street to Pennsylvania avenue, to First street northwest, around east side Peace Monument, north to First street, to B street, to Tennessee avenue, north to Florida avenue to the grounds.

Promptly at 10:30 this morning Col. William F. Cody, more familiarly known as "Buffalo Bill," will snap the reins over the backs of a dapper pair of pinto mustangs and the mile long parade of the Buffalo Bill 101 Ranch Wild West Show will leave the big canvas city which has sprung up at Florida avenue and Fifteenth street northeast.

Following him will come fifty regular United States soldiers, on furlough from the Mexican campaign, and a host of cow-boys and cow-girls, Indians, Mexicans, Cosacs, Japs, Turkish riders, stage coaches, prairie schooners, and similar features of the Western life as it used to be.

Somewhere in the parade will be an Indian girl whose eyes will be red from weeping. Her name is Juanita Yellow Shield, and coming from the railroad yards yesterday her bundle fell from one of the wagons and was lost. It contained not only Juanita Yellow Shield's wardrobe, but the presents she has been collecting to carry back to her relatives on the plains of Wyoming to substantiate the stories she has to tell them. But the presents are gone now. Also in the parade will be Old Iron Tail whose grim visage adorns the Buffalo five-cent piece.

Two big special trains bringing the show pulled into the yards at 7 o'clock yesterday morning, and the crowd which had sacrificed its morning nap to see the arrival and had been standing around expectantly for half an hour, suddenly came to life as the 500 employees hustled out of the cars and began to get the big wagons and the horses unloaded.

About 9 o'clock the employees were sitting down to breakfast in the big mess tent. It was just fifty-five minutes after the mess wagons had reached the grounds that the steam began to rise from the coffee cups set out on the long table. After breakfast the five big double tents for the draft horses went up, followed by the wigwams, the tents for the mustangs, the dressing tents, and the numerous other canvas domiciles which are to shelter the show during its two days' stay. The huge exhibition tent went up last. The "big top" is new, and will be used for the first time today.

The engagement lasts for two days only with performances each afternoon and evening at 2 and 8 o'clock.

Reserved seats are on sale at the show grounds and at Ogram's drug store, Thirtieth street and Pennsylvania avenue.

Note on Egg Cost $5.
Wheeling, W. Va., May 28.—"I will be up Saturday." This message, written on an egg in a crate of eight dozen, cost a local merchant $5.75 in postage. The eggs were sent by a Sardis (Ohio) huckster by parcel post and when the package was opened at the Wheeling post-office for inspection the message was weighed and charged for at first-class postage rates.

Swine provided 60 per cent of the total meat consumed in the German empire last year.
